

How Can I Contribute to bridge digital divide?

Contributed by Administrator
Wednesday, 07 July 2004
Last Updated Sunday, 26 October 2008

How can I contribute for remote free education with Bridgenet.org?

First, register and be member. You can send us an email to request to be a publisher, a professor or an student.

All publishers can publish their own classes and make it available to students and use the community tools to train remotely students.

Students may request free classes that we will match with available classes scheduled.

Students can find links for most of free courses, manuals that they need. Send us the classes you need, our team, contributors and teachers will work to make it available to you as soon as possible.

Remember, your contribution is what makes this space to continue to be a great place for free education.